

Biannual Medieval and Renaissance Studies Seminar on Race in Premodern Studies

April 13, 2019, 10:30 a.m.–4:00 p.m.

215 Tate Hall

A reception will follow

Cécile Fromont
Yale University

Lynn Ramey
Vanderbilt University

Cord J. Whitaker
Wellesley College

Photo by Lesley S. Curtis/PhillyBlooms

Medieval and Renaissance Studies proudly announces its Biennial Works-in-Progress Seminar. This year's seminar is dedicated to the subject of race in premodern studies and is open to all who are interested in reading and discussing pre-circulated research papers.

Registration is free, but space is limited, so please register by March 25.

To register or for more information, please contact Megan Moore, director of the Medieval and Renaissance Studies Program.

Register by March 25
MooreMegan@missouri.edu